CLAY COUNTY UTILITY AUTHORITY
WORKSHOP SESSION
December 7, 2020

The Board of Supervisors of the Clay County Utility Authority (CCUA) met in Workshop Session at the Fleming Island Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant, 1770 Radar Road, Fleming Island, Florida at 1:30 P.M. for the purpose of an informational tour.

Item No. 1 – Tour

Supervisors Darin Roark and Jim Starnieri were in attendance. Also present on the tour were the following members of CCUA's staff, Executive Director Jeremy Johnston, Chief Operations Officer Teri Shoemaker, Public Relations & Government Affairs Liaison Celeste Goldberg, Wastewater Department Superintendent Dennis Martin, and Design Manager Kevin Ledbetter.

CCUA Board Members along with the Governing Board of the St. Johns River Water Management District toured the Doctors Lake Phosphorus Removal Project located at the Fleming Island Regional Wastewater Treatment Facility.

The tour was conducted to familiarize the attendees with the Phosphorus Removal Project and its function.

No action was taken during the workshop session.

The tour ended at approximately 2:30 P.M.
